

Notifications

This tab displays notifications to a specific user from the application. The following events are added to the notification feed:

- When creating/editing the assignment of courses, tests, 360 assessment, IDP.
- When adding/removing to the list of moderators.
- If an employee is selected to check an open question and someone has passed the test with this open question, then the checker receives a notification that the answer needs to be checked.

Updating the application

This tab contains the “Reset application cache” element (similar to a browser update):

It is recommended to use this element for all cases when it is necessary to refresh the browser window with the application. For example, when you have not worked in the application for a long time, but the window was open. If there was a change in tariff and you need to see the result immediately.

Message Settings

This section is where you configure personal notifications. When it is necessary to send a notification, the application first checks the general notification settings (in the general application settings, available only to moderators). They have priority. If Disabled is selected in the general settings, then notifications will not be sent. If Enabled is selected, then notifications will be sent. If At the discretion of the user is selected, then what is selected in the personal settings of each user will be executed. In this section). Personal notification settings are carried out by each employee in their personal account in the Feed section.

Blue - for all employees, red - only for moderators.
