

Surveys

Introduction

Surveys are intended for conducting surveys on different subjects. Unlike tests, surveys do not have correct or incorrect answers.

Creating a survey

1. You can create a survey from the Events - Surveys Section or in the Feed. Currently, they are not interconnected.
2. You can create a survey only with a single-choice or multiple-choice question.
3. In surveys, you can configure:
 - Anonymity level:
 - At user's discretion;
 - Public (all votes are visible);
 - Anonymous.
 - Allow multiple answers (by default, one answer per user).
 - Allow comments.
 - Allow likes.
 - Availability level. By default, available to all. If you uncheck the checkbox, you can configure the survey availability for specific employees.

Survey results

1. Survey results can be viewed in the survey itself.
2. In the Reports section, you can build a report with the results of all surveys for a specified period.

Survey FAQ

“ What are the development plans for surveys?

In the near term, we plan to add several new question types and implement the ability to assign surveys. Also planned is the implementation of adding interpretation of respondents' answers, which will allow creating various psychological surveys, engagement surveys, etc.
