A screenshot of a web application interface titled "List of Ideas". The interface has a blue header bar with the word "Ideas" on the left and several icons on the right. Below the header, there is a search bar and three filter buttons: "All ideas", "All categories", and "Choose a contest". The main content area is a table with four columns: "Name", "Author", "Category", and "Rating". The table contains three rows of data, each representing an idea. The first two rows have a refresh icon on the left, and the third row has a checkmark icon. Each row shows the idea name with its ID, the author's name and timestamp, and a five-star rating. To the right of each row are icons for bookmarking and a menu.
